

REDUCED FEES.

On this subject the Tascorora Times-Review makes the following remarks:

There will not be likely to be the usual exciting contest for county offices at the next election which has heretofore added such zest and interest to the political campaigns in this State. The repeal of the Salary law and the cutting down of official fees about 30 per cent. will prevent any very desperate struggle being made, or the expenditure of much money to secure offices which will not pay more than fair salaries. We believe, however, that the Legislature acted wisely in making this change. The pay of county officers was entirely too high and disproportionate to that of other vocations requiring the same amount of ability and business experience. The effect, we are confident, will prove highly satisfactory to the taxpaying people of the State. There will be plenty of competent persons willing to take nominations for the different offices, with the understanding that they will not be required or expected to shell out in advance at least a year's pay to secure their elections. The probabilities are that more money will actually be saved by the officers than under the present high salary and fee system. It is reasonable to presume, also, that in the main a better class of persons will be placed in nomination, while it is certain that the voters at the elections will be subjected to less corrupt influences than under the political tactics heretofore practiced. Candidates will not be expected to spend money except for the necessary and legitimate expenses of the election, such as printing, the distribution of tickets, etc. The money usually spent for whisky, palming strikers, and other methods of greasing the political machinery—to say nothing of the actual purchase of votes—will thus be indirectly saved to the taxpayers of the different counties. This is at least a step in the direction of reform.

The political millenium will have been reached when the state of affairs predicted in the above is reached. If it can exist in the future why did it not exist when the old fee system was in vogue? If "the pay of county officers was entirely too high," the better plan would have been to have reduced them. The Times Review man knows that human nature is such that candidates for the very lowest offices will spend money for electioneering purposes, and that prohibition will be master of the day in Nevada, when opposing candidates agree to remain at home, and not take an active part in the canvass. The "dark horse" will come in and win the race. But Washoe county will continue under the salary system, satisfied to pay its officers a fair compensation for the service necessary to be performed. The officers and taxpayers will find the salary system of mutual advantage. And the JOURNAL will prophesy that Washoe's machinery will run along with less jar than that of any county where the fee system prevails.

The general prosperity of the country is proved by the rapid extension of the postal service during the past year. The number of post-offices in the United States now is 47,932, having been increased by 1,711 during the last fiscal year. This is considerably above the average growth, and the increase is by no means confined to the newer sections of the country, forty-three having been added to the list in New York State. Such figures as these tell a gratifying story of national development.

The German Emperor has presented two new bells to the famous Louise Church in Charlottenburg, which are to be rung for the first time on the anniversary of Sedan. The Empress has ordered one of them engraved with a relief portrait of the late Queen Louise of Prussia, with the motto, "As the Lord willed it, so it was done." The other bears a relief portrait of the Emperor, with the motto (suggested by him), "In faith there is charity and hope."

It is estimated, from the returns now at hand, that the surplus of the Post Office Department for the year ended June 30th, 1893, will be in the neighborhood of $2,500,000, as against $1,400,000 for the preceding year. It is safe to infer that, even with the reduction in letter-postage, to go into effect on October 1st, the department will be more than self sustaining.

How THE NEW CIVIL SERVICE RULES WORK.—The civil service rules work after all, in spite of the warm weather letters of special correspondents at Washington. A nine hundred dollar vacancy in the National Redemption Agency of the Treasurer's Office has been filled by the first on the list of candidates who passed the recent examination. This is as it should be.—Philadelphia Ledger, August 27th.

THE UTAH COMMISSION.

The following communication was received to-day at the Interior Department from A. B. Carleton, at Salt Lake, addressed to the Secretary: "In the absence of my associates of the Utah Commission, who are on a few weeks' vacation, I take the liberty of addressing you in their belief, as well as my own. Hitherto we have paid but little attention to many false statements of the press, emanating from this city, but I find in newspapers what purports to be statements made by Hon. Edward Pierrepont to President Arthur, which ought not to go unnoticed. If the honorable gentleman made the statements, he has certainly gathered an immense crop of misinformation. I only wish to say now, in behalf of the Commission, that every charge or innuendo, that gentlemen composing this Board have been improperly influenced, or have failed to discharge their whole duty under the law to the best of their ability and judgment, is based upon information wilfully and wickedly false. This Board is charged, under the new law, with the duty of excluding all polygamists from voting and from eligibility to office. This is the full extent of our authority under the law, and in this our work has been completely successful. We have excluded some 12,000 polygamists from the polls, and at the November elections of 1892 and many municipal elections since that time, and at the general election in August, 1893, embracing about 800 officers who were elected, we have excluded all polygamists from eligibility. In short, the Commission has strictly and stringently executed the law of Congress, and stretched the legal tether to its utmost tension, in order to make it as effective as possible; inasmuch that the Mormons have sued members of this Board in ten several cases, for what they allege to be in excess of authority against them. I wish you to consider this as an official communication, and bring it to the notice of the President as early as possible.

Villard and Party Aground.

ASORIA, Or., September 4. The steamer Queen of the Pacific, with the Villard party on board, is aground on Clatsop Spit, inside the Columbia bar. Great excitement prevails as the vessel is grounded at high tide, and fears are entertained that it will be impossible to get her off. The Queen struck the Spit close to where the Republic was wrecked. All the passengers have been safely removed, Captain Perkins and crew remaining on board. Two tug-boats will try to pull the vessel off at high tide to-morrow. Captain Perkins offers them $50,000 if they succeed in getting her off.

Answer Filed.

WASHINGTON, September 5. In the case of the manager of the New Orleans Lottery Co., against the Postmaster General for $100,000 damages, in issuing an order to prevent the delivery of letters addressed to him, etc., Postmaster-General Gresham filed his answer. He made a general denial of the charges. He alleges Postmaster-General Key was satisfied after hearing evidence in the case, that the plaintiff was conducting a scheme for obtaining money through the mails by means of false pretenses, and that he (Gresham) refused to revoke Key's order, but on the other hand strictly enforced it. Gresham pleads his duty in enforcing the order originally issued.

The Official Guillotine.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 4. Paul Vandervoort, the Chief Clerk of the Railway Mail Service at Omaha for nine years past, has been removed by Postmaster General Gresham. Great indignation is expressed here as it is done on account of Mr. V's absence on account of being Grand Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic. Under the late Postmaster General Howe, he had permission, and under Gresham, he only made one trip; and that with permission and without pay. He had no notice from the Department until his successor walked in. He has accomplished a great work for the service, and his removal is considered a great outrage.

Reform.

Sheriff Henry Tabor (Republican), of Elko county, collected for licenses in the first six months of his official career in 1893, $5,673; while Ben Fitch, his Democratic predecessor, collected for the same length of time in 1892 $2,094 25, showing a gain in favor of the Republican Sheriff of $3,477 25. The question naturally arises: How is this? The Elko Press says: To a man up a tree, the present method of doing business as compared with the past looks very much like "reform."

What are called "peanuts" in Virginia are known as "ground peas" in North Carolina, "goobers" in Tennessee, and "pinders" in Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. Virginians are beginning to turn their peanuts into flour.

War with England Predicted.

A son of Edward Pierrepont stated Monday that the Chicago Tribune, in referring to a scheme for acquiring British Columbia, had penetrated the most important State secret which had been opened since the rebellion. He admitted practically that his trip to Alaska was in reference to this very thing. As an ex-Minister to the Court of St. James he is in a position to know whereof he speaks. He says in establishing the boundary line with British Columbia a tremendous error was committed. At present it is impossible to get into Alaska where all our fisheries and mining industries are without going 100 miles through British waters. The only other route is 1,000 miles around through the stormy Pacific ocean. He remarks that it is now a State question with both England and America whether the United States shall acquire British Columbia by conquest or Great Britain seize Alaska.

He was entertained by the Governor of Vancouver Island and the Chief Justice of that Island was present. He remarked to the visitors that the United States had no business in Alaska, since it was only accessible through British waters. The British secured the sea coast as far up as the middle of Mt. St. Elias, and there a line was drawn due north. Mr. Pierrepont says it is not a question of the purchase of British Columbia, since Great Britain is too dignified to sell its possessions, but it is a matter of conquest. He refers to the fact that England is watching the Isthmian canal project, ready to snatch the Pacific coast fraud. He says war is inevitable, because our interests are identical, and the moment the United States interferes with Great Britain's carrying our products to Europe there will be trouble. A great navy is an absolute necessity to the country. The war is not a matter of the near future, but it will be desirable to the people of this country as soon as they are prepared. He says that England is astonished at the vast industries developing in Alaska. That Territory cost the United States $7,200,000 and the royalty from the seal industries alone is 6 per cent. on the investment. The fisheries there are equal to those of all the rest of the world combined, and this produce going through British waters excites great jealousy.

Suicide in Germany.

German philosophers have been much exercised lately by the hideous statistics relating to suicide in their country. The mania for self-murder is manifested to a terrible extent in Berlin, and a very large number of those who fall victims to it belong to what are called the high classes. The London Graphic remarks: "Perhaps the facts cannot be satisfactorily explained; but it is impossible not to associate them to some extent with the decay of religious belief in Germany. It would be absurd, of course, that there is any necessary connection between skepticism and suicide; but there are certainly multitudes of men who, when they suddenly throw off old restraints, are tempted to plunge into a kind of life that may easily lead to disaster. For many thousands of Germans gambling seems to have an irresistible fascination; and gambling both at the Bourse and at the card-table is understood to have been the direct cause of some of the most recent instances of suicide in the German capital. Probably poverty also accounts for a considerable number of cases. After the Franco-German war it was hoped that Germany would soon become as rich as she was powerful; but these anticipations have not been realized. The vast military system of the country crushes its industrial energies, and the struggle for existence in the great cities has become, to the mass of the people, almost intolerable. Many unfortunate men and women seem to kill themselves for no other reason than that they are tired of a conflict which they have to carry on without the consolations that sustained less materialistic generations. The subject is a very complicated and painful one, and we do not wonder that it causes much anxiety to serious and patriotic Germans."

Jack Fitzgerald has returned from the northern country, to manage the Palace Hotel until Al. White returns from Kentucky.

Two men are in the Humboldt county jail awaiting the action of the Grand Jury on a charge of burglarizing a freight car at Lovelocks.

The two men who were arrested for burglarizing Mr. Wilder's house in White's Canyon will have a hearing before Justice Young to day.

Schoolmaster General Young says that he has not authorized the call for a State Teachers' Institute. Anything to the contrary is no such thing.

The Chinaman who was convicted at Franktown for selling whisky without a license, soon tired of prison life and paid his fine and was released.

The Commissioners repealed the "dog ordinance" at their last session and some of the boys who purchased tags good for one year think they are entitled to a rebate.

The fire bell was tolled last evening out of respect to the late Frank Perkins, and by direction of Morris Ash, Foreman, the engine houses were draped in mourning.

Both Lodges of I O O F in Tuscarora have voted to consolidate, and all that is now required is the action of the Grand Lodge which will doubtless be favorable.

Judge Boardman will call a Grand Jury to-day. The Judge thought that this might be avoided at this term of Court but several cases have occurred within the last few days which make it necessary to call one.

W. J. Smith, Grand Master, and H. B. McKee, Grand Patriarch, of the I. O. O. F., of Nevada, arrived from the Eastern part of the State yesterday, and last evening visited Truckee Lodge, No. 14. They will leave for Carson this morning. Hope they will stop over a week on their return trip.

Ayer's Ague Cure is the only remedy known, which is certain to cure Fever and Ague permanently, by expelling the malarial poison which produces the disease. It does this surely, and leaves no ill effects upon the system. Nothing is so thoroughly depressing and discouraging as the periodical return of the alternate chills, fever and sweating, peculiar to this disease.

Death of Frank Perkins.

Frank Perkins, of the firm of Perkins & White, proprietors of the Palace Hotel, in this place, died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after an illness of five days. The disease that carried him off was an aggravated case of typhoid pneumonia. He was taken sick on Thursday last, the day his partner left for the East, on a visit to his old home in Kentucky. He gradually grew worse and Friday morning Dr. Dawson was called in. He grew rapidly worse until Monday, when he seemed to rally for a few hours, but soon grew worse and continued to sink until death ensued. Mr. Perkins was one of the foremost business men in Reno and his loss will be sorely felt. He was a genial, whole-souled man, and liberal to a fault. He was a member of Reno Lodge, No. 19, I. O. O. F., and Assistant Foreman of Washoe Engine Company, No. 2. He was 35 years of age, born and raised in California. Al. White, his partner, was notified by telegraph and will start for Reno immediately. Up to a late hour last night no arrangements had been made for the funeral.

Austin School Troubles.

The Trustees at Austin had some trouble at the opening of the schools last Monday. The duly appointed principal, Prof. Crenshaw, failed to put in an appearance, which left the Trustees in a dilemma wholly unexpected. They did considerable telegraphing, the result of which is that Prof. Crenshaw has been notified that he is not wanted there, and Prof. S. D. Bristow, who has been teaching in Wadsworth for some time, has been engaged to take his place. Mr. Bristow telegraphed that he could not reach Austin before next Saturday, so the High School Department will not be opened until Monday next. The Austin people will find Mr. Bristow a competent teacher and a very clever gentleman.

Bound to Preserve Order.

The Miners' Union will see that no unlawful bilarity is indulged in at their picnic next Sunday. Sheriff Emmitt will appoint thirty Deputies to preserve the peace and to secure order on that occasion. They will be selected from members of the Union. With this precaution those who attend need have no fears but that the proceedings will be quiet and orderly.

The Antelope Mine.

It is learned from Captain Griffen, who has just returned from the East, that the Boston owners of the Antelope mine have made arrangements to pay off all the indebtedness of the company and to continue the work of prospecting the mine. Although Mr. Griffen is not at this time connected with the company officially, he will assist in straightening up their affairs and starting the work again.

SOMETHING NEW.

Condensed Food For Milk Cows - Milk-Producing Food.

The Antioch, Cal., Ledger says: Last year a farmer improvised a small silo by sinking a molasses hoghead into the ground in his barn cellar. He cut up all his corn fodder with a hay cutter, supposing he had enough to fill four hogheads, but on packing he found that it wouldn't fill one. He then bought of a neighbor as much as one horse could draw, and still there was room. He then cut up the stalks from a piece of sweet corn, and with a lot of rowen managed to fill his hoghead. He made a close fitting cover, and with a Jackscrew set under one of the floor timbers, pressed it down as tight as possible. In the middle of December he opened his silo and found the corn as sweet and fragrant as when put in. From the hoghead he fed one cow half a bushel of ensilage morning and night for two months, and considers it the best milk-producing food that can be fed. This year he proposes to fill the hoghead with oats cut just as they are in the milk.

The Effects of Bad Company.

A Kentucky paper of Democratic morals tells the following story: An Irishman dropped into a saloon and was very much taken with a parrot which hung in a cage near the window. "Phwat is that?" he asked. "That's a parrot, Pat," replied the vender of stimulants. Just then the parrot chimed in with: "Yes, I'm a parrot, and you bet I'm h—!" This so delighted Pat that he offered to buy the bird. "Phwat will yez take for it?" he asked. "Fifty dollar," "Howly Moses! that's too much; have yez any eggs?" "The saloon-keeper saw a chance for a joke and answered yes. 'How'll yez sell 'em?' 'Two for five dollar,' Pat pulled out his pocket-book and deposited the amount named. The saloon-keeper took it and went into a back room from whence he soon reappeared with two large eggs, which Pat pocketed and walked off. Nothing was seen of him for about two months, when one day he came in, and, leaning over the counter, whispered to the saloon-keeper: "I want to spake to yez a minute." "Well, fire ahead," "You'd better be after watching that burrod of yours." "Why, Pat?" "Well, from me experience wid thim eggs, I believe the cranythar's been asociating wid dukes!"

A Dangerous Compound.

A girl was found lying insensible near a Vienna hospital a short time ago. She was breathing, but to all appearance dead. When taken in the hospital, the doctor pronounced the case to be one of poisoning. When brought to her self again, she declared that after the sparing use of some new rouge, a strange sensation came over her, and she told her mother she must go out for a little air. On reaching the hospital she fainted, and was found in that condition. The rouge being examined, was found to contain several poisonous ingredients, and it doubt has been the cause of many deaths.

Nature's Artistic Touches.

The meadows hereabouts, owing to irrigation, present some very pretty contrasts of color unknown elsewhere. When the alfalfa is first cut and raked into windrows it is a very dark green and the scrubby grayish cast when seen from a distance. As soon as the water is turned on, the tender leaves spring up and a delicate shade of green furnishes a beautiful contrast to the heavy color of the crops of hay. The heaps of hay keep fading and the growing grass gets greener day by day, affording real pleasure to the lover of the beautiful who chances to live in sight of a sloping hillside meadow.

Valuable Improvements.

M. C. Lake is preparing a piece of ground a few rods back of the Lake House for a public grove. He is grading it and getting it ready for trees which will be planted this Fall. In connection with the grove he is making valuable improvements to the river bed, preparatory to building a bath house, and a swimming bath. He will also have a rowing course and provide boats for the river. He will invest $4,000 or $5,000 on the place before snow flies. This improvement will make the Lake House one of the most attractive places in Western Nevada.

At Last.

The opinion in the case of Steele et al. vs. the Gold Lead Mining Company, affirming the judgment of the lower Court, has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the Supreme Court. The opinion is concurred in by Judges Hawley and Belknap, Judge Leonard dissenting. This case has been in the Supreme Court for over three years.

Eggs for Winter Use.

A woman has discovered a novel method of preserving eggs for winter use. In Summer she breaks the eggs, pours the contents into bottles, which are tightly corked and sealed, when they are placed in the cellar, neck down. The contents of the bottles come out as fresh as when first put in. She puts a dozen eggs in each bottle.

Death of Porter Holmes.

Porter Holmes, who was formerly connected with the Crown Point, and later, with some of the Bodie mines, died a few days since at Reno, Nevada, of yellow fever.

Two Important Cases.

Under the application of Tremor Coffin, U. S. District Attorney, two important writs of mandamus were issued Monday by the Supreme Court, one directed to Hon. D. C. McKenney, Judge of the 5th Judicial District, directing him to appear and show cause why he does not proceed to try a Shoshone Indian, now in the Belmont jail, under indictment for the murder of a Shoshone Indian girl. Judge McKenney refused to take jurisdiction of the case because the General Government maintains treaty relations with the Shoshones, recognizing them as an independent nation, and placing them beyond the jurisdiction of the State Courts.

The other writ was directed to O. S. Preble, Surveyor General of the State of Nevada, commanding him to appear and show cause why he does not sell 40 acres of the public land granted to the State of Nevada by the United States, to Fook Ling, a citizen and subject of the Empire of China. Several Chinamen have applied to purchase portions of the public land and their applications have been refused by General Preble. This proceeding in mandamus is to be made a test case.

Roma Union.

Antone Dragovich, Superintendent of the Roma Union mine at Pyramid, is in town. He reports the main tunnel in the Company's ground now in 1,100 feet, and is being driven ahead as rapidly as the work can be pushed with two shifts. According to Mr. Dragovich's estimates the tunnel will have to run about 200 feet further to cut through the vein matter to the east country rock, which is a hard granite. The tunnel thus far has crossed a number of good sized veins varying in width from 2 to 16 feet, and all composed of good milling ore. The 16 foot ledge is well defined and the average assays of the ore from wall to wall is over $20 per ton. The Company will push the tunnel through to the east country and then drift both ways from the tunnel on the ledges crossed. When this is done, if the quantity and quality of the ore continues, reduction works will be constructed at Pyramid or somewhere on the Truckee.

The Carson Mint.

Mr. Bryant, Master and Refiner of the Carson Mint, was in Reno several hours yesterday awaiting the arrival of the delayed train. From him it is learned that the Mint is running smoothly and that there is material enough on hand to keep the wheels moving for the next six months. He says the low stage of water in the Carson river has caused a material falling off in the production of bullion, but that the Mint receives as much or more than it did when the bonanza mines were running at full blast. This is accounted for from the fact that none of these mines are producing bullion enough to keep their refineries running, and as a result all this work is now done at the Mint. At the present time there are between five and six thousand ounces of bullion on hand.

ADVICE TO CONSUMPTIVES.

On the appearance of the first symptom—as general debility, loss of appetite, pallor, chilly sensations, followed by night sweats and cough, prompt measures of relief should be taken. Consumption is a scourge of the lungs; therefore use the great anti-consumptive and blood purifier and strength restorer, Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Superior to Cod Liver oil as a nutritive, and unsurpassed as a pectoral. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, and kindred affections it has no equal. Sold by druggists. For Dr. Pierce's treatise on consumption send two stamps. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.
